Dust and Echoes

Hey guys, here's something I thought up of, how about a version Halo Reach with the Covenant and PokÃ©mon have been conscripted into the UNSC. I know it may sound stupid, but read on to find out. Now I'll start with the thoughts of the main character (a Tsutarja known as Noble Six) to kick things off. **

Prologue **

September 18th, 2552.

I looked up at the sky and saw the last traces of the Pillar of Autumn as she escaped into the heavens. I gazed out at the barren landscape where my fallen brothers lay. I was alone. Covenant drop ships were beginning to swarm around me, I could hear shouts and roars of Elite soldiers approaching in the distance. Death seemed inevitable at this point. There was no escape. No, I thought. This is not my time to die. As I grabbed my rifle, I told myself, "_There'll be another time..._" and so I ran into the haze of the battlefield...

Chapter 2 could be up anytime, but be patient for updates as I'm also working on another fic. Thanks.
